Bethel budgeters taking close look at FY '89 budget

Like master meatcutters wielding sharp knives, Bethel's Budget Committee got to work last week, trimming off a little fat here and a little fat there. They were working on the proposed fiscal 1989 budget.

The budget document originally took shape through the vision of the town manager. He pencilled in a gross budget of $972,346—or a 21 percent increase over the current fiscal year's budget.

The Board of Selectmen then worked it over-adding some, subtracting some-and came up with a gross budget of $975,548.

Judging by the way the Budget Commuttee members have been cutting, it seems likely that the proposed budget will be slimmer than the one they were given.

In the course of three meetings so far through Monday night, the sharpest disagreement between the Budget Cemmuttee and the selectmen and town manager came in regards to the Police Department. The original budget proposal called for keeping the present cruiser after the new cruiser already ordered and overdue) is delivered.

"No. no!" exclaimed Dick Douglass "I don't believe in two vehicles. You're going to have one heliuva maintenance fee on the old one.

"And then you'll want to trade it for a new one," added Bob Chadbeurne. "Because they 've getten used to two."

funished Herb Lyon Freda Davis noted that the second cruiser-which the town manager suggested would be used by the chief to commute from home to office-would add another $600 to the town's insurance costs even if it were only used for commuting While it is the selectmen who set policy and the town manager who administers town government, the budgeters can influence both by adding to or subtracting from various accounts. In the police cruiser difference-of-opinion, the Budget Committee took $400 out of the gasoline allocation and took $600 out of the insurance allocation in order to give the town fathers the pointed hint that they did not want money spent on a second

The Budget Committee, Monday, also completely wiped out, on a 5-2 vote (Bob) Davis and John Todd dissenting v. $4,050 the town manager and selectmen had set aside for 13 shade trees to be planted on Main Street between the Casco Bank and Continued on Page Three

Black Eagle Jazz Band plays in Bethel April 22

The New Black Eagle Jazz Band will appear in concert at the Telstar auditorium next Friday, April 22, sponsored by the Mahoosuc Arts Council.

The New Black Eagle Jazz Band roared out of Boston about 10 years ago and took the jazz world by storm. Since then they have travelled all over the United States and Europe. They have produced a series of 15 remarkable recordings on both their own label as well as major commercial labels, and are generally acknowledged to be the top classic revival band featuring the early New Orleans style of jazz.

However, to this early style they have brought their own talent for creating increasingly complex layers of polyphonic sound, resulting in an overall impact that drives audiences to stand and scream their approval. The intensity that the band creates, whether the tempo is fast or slow, is what creates impassioned responses in their audiences.

Their music is that of Jabbo Smith's pacey "Ace of Rythms," Ellington's "Big House Blues," Armstrong's "Some Sweet Day" and Waller's "Viper Drag." All of these and more take the band back 40 to 60 years.

Tickets are on sale at Prim's Pharmacy and at the door: $5 for adults; $2 for students and senior citizens.

The request was presented March 24.

In the request, Stowell Products Inc. of Bryant Pend, complained that the #1987 * assessment of $1,453,000 -- set by the town assessors—is unreal stically high. The company seeks an assessment of $538,000, or a reduction of $915,000.

In a letter to the Woodstock Board of Selectmen on the same matter. Stowell president Raleigh Minor noted that the mill was purchased [in 1985] for a price of $800,000—which would be only 55 percent of the assessed value.

While he had no complaint on the assessment of the land-$58,000-he said the assessment of the buildings and the equipment was unrealistically high. The buildings are assessed at $727,000:

he said $201,000 would be a more realistic figure. The equipment is assessed at $668,000; he said $278,000 would be a more realistic figure.

Given the assessed values assigned by the town officials, the company's taxes in 1986 were about $25,000 and in 1987 were about $30,000. The company still owes $23,420 in '86 taxes and still owes the entire '87 tax bill. The town already has placed a lien for $10,737 on the company's property, and selectmen, at a recent meeting, said they are considering placing additional liens against the company's equipment. Town officials are very edgy about Stowell's since the town lost a year's worth of taxes in 1985 when the company was sold through a

Stowell's director of sales and marketing, Don Gray, sounded surprised when told the selectmen were considering taking action against the mill by

Sunday River continues condo building program

Demand for on-slope accommodations is up 48 percent at Sunday River Ski Resort this season, according to skiway officials. In response, Sunday River plans to offer two new projects, to be completed for the 1988/89 ski season.

Plans for the Locke Mountain Townhouse, located slopeside adjacent to the Roadrunner and Tempest trails at the White Cap Base Area, call for three townhouse buildings to be constructed containing eight units apiece. These units will be the finest units built to date at Sunday River, with quality features such as cathedral ceilings, wall-to-wall carpets, skylights, hardwood finishes and fully applianced kitchens, including washers and dryers. These units will come completely furnished. Locke Mountain Townhouses will be trailside for skiin/ski-out convenience. Pre-construction prices start at $189,000.

A second condominium complex, White Cap Village, is being planned for 1988/89 occupancy. The proposed Phase I and II plans for White Cap Village call for three buildings, each containing 28 one-bedroom units. Located downslope from Locke Mountain Townhouses, White Cap Village will also offer slopeside ski-in/ski-out convenience to the White Cap Base Area. Also proposed for the White Cap Village complex is a separate recreation building and an outdoor heated pool for year round use. Pre-construction prices for White Cap

Board allows seniors to sign out of school during some study halls

The SAD #44 Board of Directors voted Monday night to allow seniors with study hall scheduled for the beginning or end of the school day to sign themselves out of school. The board also agreed to consider, "with an open mind," a future proposal from the administration for regularly scheduled "restructured" or "development" days, during which teachers would hold meetings and students would be released.

The sign-out proposal, which had originated in the Student Council, produced a good deal of discussion. The proposal applies to any senior who is passing all of his or her courses and who is scheduled for a study hall during the first or last period of the day.

These seniors will now have the option of skipping the study hall and signing out of school.

The student's parent or guardian must sign a consent form before the student can exercise this option.

Board members in favor of the proposal argued that the students involved were adults, many with outside 10b commitments, and they deserved the opportunity to begin exercising adult responsibility.

The administration, which also supported the proposal, said the Student council had followed proper procedures in pursuing the request, and a favorable response from the board would be an excellent way to show the students that playing by the rules could be successful. Not all board members were convinced that these benefits warranted reducing the time students spent in school. "One of the great charges against Telstar is that it's a country club." said Director Stan Howe, of Bethel. 'I think that we're falling into the country club

Speaking in favor of allowing the students to sign out, Director Ray Harrington, of Greenwood, said: "I'm a firm believer that there's nothing wrong with country clubs if you can afford to pay the

A motion to implement the proposal on a trial basis for the fourth quarter of this year passed by a vote of 9-5.

Telstar Regional High School Principal Ted Davis estimated that approximately a dozen students a day would be affected by the new option.

Board members also agreed to consider at a future board meeting the possibility of again setting aside days or half-days on which students would be released in order to free teachers to hold meetings and conferences.

Such days would be taken from the regular school calendar and would be in addition to the five teacher workshop days already scheduled through the year.

The district had scheduled such "restructured days" in the past, Director Merton Brown, of Bethel, said later, but the practice had ceased when the board asked the teachers to report back on how they used the time.

"They never got back to us." Mr. Brown said. "I think that something has got to come back to us before we can decide."

Superintendent Dewaine Craig said the district administrative team will now meet with teachers from various schools to get their feedback on the matter.

In other action at Monday night's meeting, the board unanimously approved the contract worked out between its negotiating committee and the union Continued on Page Three

Opinions

The bucks stop here

They're not politicians and they're not accountants. But when it comes to devising town budgets, they're the people who have years of practical experience in business and the trades and an intuitive feel- it by. The yardstick that I use is simple: ing for what's proper and what's not. They are the members of the every person's life is as precious and budget committees that act as restraints on the wish lists that other valuable as every other person's life. town officials place before town meetings each year.

In the case of Bethel, the stalwarts are Jane Young, Freda Davis, Herb Lyon, Arnol Brown, Bob Davis, Bob Chadbourne, David Head, Rembrandt or a Beethoven or an Eins-John Todd and Richard Douglass. And they have been meeting twice tein will certainly be more valuable to the a week, going through the requests that have been passed up from department heads to town manager to selectmen, and asking questions, and making cuts when they aren't satisfied with the answers.

Committee member Bob Chadbourne probably voiced the philosophy of the group when he made the general statement: "You can't buy It follows then, that the life of an Israeli everything."

This is not to suggest that the selectmen in the local towns are liberal spendthrifts. They are not. But just as a patient seeks a second opinion before going under the knife, so should a taxpayer. And that's what the local budget committees do-provide a second opinion. Of course, it is ultimately up to Town Meeting to decide which opinion-or papers did not report the name of two neither—to accept.

A person's wants-or an organization's wants-are infinite. But a fracas. person's ability to pay-or an organization's ability to pay-are quite finite. Even in the wealthiest household, even in the richest corporation, even in the nation with the highest GNP, there are limits to what handedness in that country. is affordable.

But while towns have budget committees to ride herd on proposed expenses, at the state level there is no such bridle. Take for example, the recent push for a nickel-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax. Proponents—led by the governor—say the state's roads are in growing disrepair and, with the cut-off of federal funds, the state will need an extra $600 million over 20 years to keep the highway system in good ing the triggers, we are sending the order.

The Department of Transportation has come up with a wish list of roads and bridges that would get some of the money. There is something for everyone on that list—from the smallest communities aid until the killing stops. to the largest cities.

Two things were missing from the tax increase proposal, however: counterparts: What would you do if you the proposed road jobs were not ranked in order of importance, and no other sources of funding were considered. No head of household would put up with this sort of budgeting, and—to its credit—the state House of Representatives didn't either.

The Citizen, on Feb. 17, recommended eliminating those road projects that weren't of the utmost importance, and recommended fueling the absolutely necessary work by means other than a new tax. One suggestion was to use Maine Turnpike funds.

The House has proposed using such funds, plus the state's burgeoning general fund. This is certainly preferable to taking more tax money from Mainers. Keep in mind the state already has a 14-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline, while the federal government takes 9 cents a gallon

Moreover, the Legislature should not blithely accept the administration's list of roads to be improved. Rather, it should demand to know which are in most need of improvement and what the cost of those repairs will be. Only when this short list is known can the budgeters To the Editor: know how much money they really must provide.

To the Editor:

An article in The Citizen last week said four of the five towns in SAD #44 met to discuss concerns, mainly on the school budget. You stated that Newry was not represented. Evidently you did not bother to check to see why. Newry residents may want to know why they were not represented.

To the best of my knowledge, none of the Newry selectmen were notified of the meeting until late in the afternoon of the day of the meeting. It was then too late to attend. I was not notified directly at all. Some selectmen wanted to seek a meeting with the [SAD #44] Board of Directors to discuss the budget before the district budget meeting. Two years ago when the selectmen were meeting on the school budget, several complained that the selectmen had no chance to get advance information on the budget. Last year, the selectmen were invited by the superintendent of schools and board of directors to appoint a representative to sit in on the budget meetings and offer comments as to what they felt their towns would approve in the budget. Andover and Newry appointed representatives, but Bethel, Greenwood and Woodstock refused. Andover Selectman Laura Hutchins said at the meeting last week that she was the only selectman in the district to sit in on budget sessions. Although none of the Newry selectmen sat in on sessions. Newry did have a representative who sat in.

At a meeting last year, after the other three towns had refused to send a representative, Laura and I urged the selectmen from the other three towns to reconsider and send a representative, but they still refused.

There are a number of things that can be done. First, in controlling civil unrest, use non-lethal means of controlling the unrest. Any government could take a lesson from the South Korean authorities, who controlled massive demonstrations last summer with patience and tact. Second, for a long-term solution to the unrest, it is absolutely necessary to hold talks with the Palestinians, and that means with the PLO.

Last week the Newry Planning Board met with representatives of the Myers-Chapman-Wheeler Development Corporation for what MCW hoped would be a final presentation and approval of their proposed 20-townhouse development on the Bear River near Great Brook. While I was the only owner of nearby property to attend the meeting and to voice both specific and general reservations about the project, I feel this development, the first of its kind in the Bear River valley and one having enormous implications for the area, should not be approved by the Planning Board without a public hearing and without careful consideration of some of the consequences of building such a development in this

The Maine Department of Environmental Protection has proposed reclassifying the Bear River as the only Class AA river in this area. Such rivers are described as "outstanding natural resources which should be preserved because of their ecological, social, scenic or recreational importance." Those who have always felt the Bear River valley was something special should, perhaps, not wait for state action to insure the preservation of this area, not just in terms of its water quality but in terms of its unique ecological richness and scenic beauty. If this development is built, followed no doubt by others, then it is likely that never again will anyone enjoy, as we have, the sight of a bear and her cub crossing the river right where

Surely the relative wildness are the town leaders and that they are of Bear River valley is worth preserving, the voice of the Woodstock and Greenand right now is a watershed moment in wood area. I, for one, don't believe it and making decisions about the quality of life can only hope that others will see the erthe residents of this valley will enjoy in ror of having these men in office and will years to come. The Comprehensive Plan show true concern for this area next time states, "Land use is perhaps the greatest Denise A. Putnam munity characteristics." And "it is the company purchases and added $3,500,000 policy of the Town to carefully evaluate current and future residential land use patterns within the framework of community needs and desires." Can the desires of the community be known without a public hearing to > allow the people of Newry to tell how they feel about this development? In developing the Comprehensive Plan, the Town of Newry made a survey of Newry residents, with three-fourths of the questionnaires returned. When asked, "What do you like most about Newry," 36 percent said it was quiet and peaceful, with small-town privacy; 24 percent cited the natural, scenic beauty; and 16 percent cited country living, rura atmosphere and character. When asked, "Is it important to you that Newry maintain its present character," 77 percent responded with a "yes." When asked why, the greatest number of responders mentioned either the "present character inluding natural beauty is reason for living here" or "slow, controlled growth is

Yes, they have engaged in terrorism. But what political entity has not?—Israel and the United States included.

While the killing goes on, positions simply harden, and negotiations become more difficult. Meanwhile, new generations learn to hate rather than to love their neighbors.

When it comes to killing out of political hatred, one of the saddest spots on the planet is northern Ireland, where Catholic and Protestant militants regularly kill and maim. I found it a helpful sign, therefore, to read of a Catholic woman bending over the almostdead body of a British soldier killed by a mob a few weeks ago. The woman said, "He was somebody's son. Lord have mercy on his soul." There is still hope for humanity as long as a majority of people have the same realization. But it requires action to make the realization the reality.

When the selectmen of the SAD #44 towns were meeting the week before last and complaining about the seemingly unstoppable increase in taxes, I asked them what they would think of a tax cap. None of them applauded the idea, which would severely restrict their freedom to design their town budgets.

Like many new ideas, the idea of a cap began with a citizen-revolt in California over a decade ago and spread eastward. Maine's neighbor Massachusetts adopted similar legislation not too many years

The concept is simple: property taxes can only increase a certain percentage in any given year. In the case of Massachusetts, it's 212 percent.

Instead of everyone complaining about tax increases, the 212 percent cap makes local officials-and voters-think very carefully about what their communities really need and what they can do without.

Talking with people in our area, I get the impression that people are more concerned with being taxed right out of their homes than they are about having a new truck for the road crew or extra programs in the school department.

While town, school district and county officials who put together budgets pay lip service to restraint and point fingers at each other and at Augusta for the escalating taxes, there does not seem to be a real understanding of how frightened many local taxpayers are.

I think unless local officials wake up to this quite-justified fear, a statewide tax cap will be the result of the steep property tax increases being imposed on the

To the Editor:

Manufacturing is manufacturing. Exempt one, exempt all. The Legislative Appropriations Committee is currently deciding on the fate of L.D. 2554, which was created to clarify that the process of making snow is manufacturing under existing Maine law.

The idea that Maine's ski industry is inferior to other more important Maine industries and should not be treated on an equal basis with other Maine industries because it is a non-essential has now surfaced as the main controvery. Here are some facts and opinions relating to the importance of the Maine ski industry.

The Maine ski industry contributes over $100 million in gross revenues to the Maine economy, resulting in over $4 million in sales tax revenues, thousands of jobs and a viable additional economic base for the predominantly wood and manufacturing western mountain region

The general exemption of electricity from sales tax for the manufacturing industry was not the idea of the ski areas. The intent of the law seems to have been a stimulus to economic growth. We ask to treat all manufacturing equally. There would be no viable ski industry in Maine today without the manufacturing of snow. Up to $80 million in revenue would vanish annually from our state were it not for snowmaking.

On the question of lost revenue to the state, an estimate of $200,000 has been circulated-not correct. A more precise estimate of total electricity used in snowmaking in Maine is approximately $1.2 million, 5 percent of which is $60,000, not $200,000. Sales taxes are still paid on all other electrical use: ski lifts, lodges, shops, restaurants, hotel and lodging facilities. This law would not reduce the estimated $4 million of sales tax currently paid on skiing and related revenues.

Our business is an important part of the Maine economy and we contribute greatly as taxpayers to the State of Maine. Last year alone, Sunday River paid $413,000 in state corporate income tax, collected $192,000 in sales and use factor which determines future com- taxes, paid over $504,000 in sales tax on of payroll and benefits to our state.

We are not looking for special treatment, just equal treatment under the existing manufacturing exemption.

Leslie B. Otten, President Sunday River Ski Resort

desirable." When asked, "Do you feel that there should be a limit to the construction of multi-family or condominium housing in Newry," 70 percent said yes, and almost half indicated they would like to see development limited to a certain section of town. When asked, "Should local regulations require a developer to seek community input in the conceptual stage of a major development proposal," 75 percent answered "yes."

The attitudes these answers reflect are not consistent with a decision not to hold a public hearing on the first multi-unit housing development in the Bear River valley, and I urge the Planning Board to hold such a hearing and the people of Newry to attend it and to make their desires known to the board.

From Augusta

For generations, Maine people have worked, saved and sacrified to make the dream of someday owning a home a reality. It is a dream that has perpetuated for decades—through good times and hard times. It has endured because it has been achievable. Today, however, the dream of owning a home is drifting farther and farther from the grasp of the average Maine family. In many areas of the state, increases in the price of housing have more than doubled increases in personal income. Fifteen years ago 80 percent of Maine people could afford to purchase a home. Today that figure has fallen to just

There is much talk in the Legislature about the importance of maintaining Maine's unique character, but nothing threatens our way of life more than the growing inability of hard-working Maine citizens to purchase a home and become stable, active and responsible members of a community.

For several weeks a number of interested legislators have been meeting informally to review a host of housing proposals now before the Legislature. The goal is to develop a coordinated, cohesive proposal squarely addressing Maine's affordable housing problem, thus avoiding a piecemeal, patchwork approach.

There basically appears to be two ways to attack Maine's housing problem. First, we must increase the number of affordable housing units; second, we must help potential home buyers to hurdle some of the obstacles standing between them and home ownership.

Here are some ideas we are considering. One of the disturbing side-effects of Maine's rapid growth has been loss of low and moderate income housing opportunities. Even rental units, constructed 20 years ago solely for low income families, are being purchased and converted into expensive apartments or condominiums. While real estate investors are turning quick profits, lower income families are finding nowhere to turn.

One of the bills currently being reviewed would protect and maintain existing units of subsidized housing by giving the Maine State Housing Authority (MSHA) the first right of refusal to purchase housing originally constructed with federal Another measure would require any developer building high-priced condominimums or other housing that displaces low income people to build similar housing for those people displaced by the development.

Finally, a bill that would authorize the MSHA and municipal housing authorities to offer low-interest or no-interest loans to contractors who agree to construct or rehabilitate housing for low and middle income citizens is being studied.

The most formidable obstacle for many first-time home buyers is the down payment. Many people have the ability to make monthly mortgage payments. but simply have not saved the thousands of dollars necessary for a down payment. Legislation to remove the mandated 5 percent down payment requirement for persons participating in the Maine First-Home Buyers Loan Program is being considered. By removing this requirement, the MSHA would have the same flexibility as VA and FHA have in making loans to qualified first-time home buyers-charging perhaps a 3 or 4 percent downpayment.

Parents fortunate enough to assist their children with downpayment money should be encouraged to do so. Recent restrictions, however, placed on the MSHA by private mortgage insurance companies have forced the MSHA to turn away qualified loan applicants who have received this kind of downpayment assistance. Sponsors of LD 2186 do not believe that these one-time financial gifts should disqualify low and middle income persons from participating in Maine's first-time home buyer programs. This bill would create the Maine State Housing Mortgage Insurance Program. Patterned after a Vermont success story, this mortgage insurance program would allow the MSHA to serve a greater market of Maine home buyers and would significantly reduce the cost of a home to low and middle income citizens. If the search for affordable housing has become difficult, the search for affordable, handicapped accessible housing has become next to impossible.

Senator R. Donald Twitchell

To the Editor: I direct my remarks to the article "Area selectmen want more say in school budget," published in your April 6

I am sick to death of the complaining and, more important, the constant attempts of the Woodstock selectmen to undermine our school system. This little school, right here in Bryant Pond, is the finest and has the most dedicated teachers that I have ever come in contact with. They deserve every penny they make. Our teachers are molding the citizens of the future. Our country—good grief, our world-depends on these teachers doing their job well. What price do you put on that? Tell me, all you people who believe that teachers only work 180 days a year, do you count the extracurricular activities-the after-school work-the work that they bring home?

Now you infer that educators are making so much money that they are buying up all the lakefront properties. You are using your positions as selectmen to try to make the townspeople believe that! If this is in fact true, more power to them. But, of course, it is not. However the inference is that if one owns lakefront property, they must be rich or grossly overpaid. Since I own lakefront property and am not rich or overpaid, I must be the exception to the rule.

I have never heard such irresponsible judgmental statements in my life, much less seen them in print as if they were

MSAD #44 Superintendent's Newsletter

Dewaine B. Craid. This is Part Two of a three-part series outlining the budget-building process used here in SAD #44. Part one of the series dealt with the overall time frame used to build the yearly budget, from the first of November to the annual budgetmeeting in April.

Part two details the components that are employed to build the actual budget. Starting in the month of November the central office is reviewing the yearly contracts for employees, service vendors and suppliers in order to make accurate projections for the upcoming. year. The District works on a fiscal year, which runs from the beginning of Julythrough the end of the next June. This time-frame can pose projection problems when the cost of items such as fuel must be calculated 18 months in advance. This is the month that the superintendent and the school board map out the dates of work sessions for the budget-buildingprocess. The district also attempts to. negotiate multiple year contracts with its employees in an effort to stablize costswhile providing its employees with adequate salaries and benefits.

December: Not only is the month of. December filled with student activities, holidays and a few snow flakes, but alsobudget deadlines for principals and, supervisors who have been consultingtheir staff for budget requests for the. following year. These budget requests include testing services, textbooks, audiovisual items and dues, to name a few." These requests are generated after the prior year's inventory has been review-. ed, next year identified and known increases calculated. By the end of the-Christmas recess, these requests are: sent to the superintendent's office.

January: During the first week of this. month, the superintendent reviews each? budget by cost center, such as school, transportation garage or building and grounds. The next week is spent incalculating the projected income to the school. The district receives its income from the following sources: The State of a Maine; state block grant money; tuition." from Gilead, Upton and the townships; * special state bond issues, undesignated. surplus and local town assessments. This* last item, the local assessment, is not a finalized until the school budget has been. approved at the annual budget meeting.

The end of January and beginning. of February see the draft of the school budget going before the school board in . several work sessions. SAD #44 has. developed many agendas for these work sessions in order to meet the needs of the members. This year the board requested : that the total budget be prepared in draft fashion before action was taken on the individual components. The objects of these work sessions are to allow the entire school community the opportunity to review the budget, ask questions and make suggestions on the proposed budget. Everyone involved in the sessions labor through many critical and difficult decisions as they revise the proposal into a final budget.

In late February or early March the school board officially votes upon the final budget. A majority must vote affirmatively in order for the proposed." budget to gain board approval. The board also must vote for the school warrant articles, which make up the items for the annual budget meeting. The superintendent's secretary gathers the ... reports to complete the annual budget * booklet.

During the month of April the voters " receive the annual report and the date is . set for the annual meeting. This year the ... meeting is scheduled for April 25, at 7 * p.m, in the Telstar auditorium. After the annual budget meeting the process of ordering for the next year

May is the month that the town assessments are finalized, voted upon by the school board and mailed to the selectmen. The payment of local assessments is often confusing to the general public . due to the different fiscal years between the towns and the school district. Most towns use Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, which means that in one town fiscal year, they are dealing with halves of two school fiscal years and two different appropriation gospel, instead of calling it like it is-akin to vicious gossip.

Next week will be the last in this series of articles and will detail the annual budget meeting and the budget warrant articles. Within the next week you should receive the 1988 School District Annual Report in the mail.

Now that our intelligent selectmen from Woodstock have decimated education, they move on to solve the problems of affordable housing. Their solution is oh so simple—why didn't we think of it? All we have to do is pray that the condo owners and developers all go belly-up. thus forcing the owners to sell at a price that a minimum-wage earner can afford. That makes a lot of sense! The developers, of course, walk away and our local banks take the heat! But sacrifices must be made for affordable housing. right?

I suppose the taxes that the condo owners and developers generate are not needed by the town. I am sure if they were asked, the selectmen would turn down their raise to help. In closing, I call upon the townspeople of Woodstock to remind these selectmen by phone, by letter or in person that you voted them in and you can vote them out. Finally, there must be someone out there with some common sense to run for office in Woodstock. Please, please do! Joanne Walters

Bethel budget

Selectman Pat Dooen, who was sitting in, told the committee she had misgivings about taxing people in Northwest Bethel for a project that would beautify Main Street. Committee member Arnol Brown said he agreed with her and would vote against the allocation. And Freda Davis said that there were better ways of spending taxes than on trees. "I'd gladly donate my own money," she added, "but I don't think the town [should pay]."

However, last night, with members of the Beautification Committee present, the budgeters kicked in $1,700 for trees, on a 7-1 vote (Dick Douglass opposed.) The Budget Committee also took out of the proposed budget $850 for the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. Following a Town Meeting floor fight last year culminating in appropriating $750 for the chamber, the town manager and select-chamber's promotional activities. The Budget Committee unanimously refused to go along with it. "I think the Chamber of Commerce is representing the free enterprise system," said Bob Chadbourne, "and the free enterprise system should support it." The committee cut $300 from the $1,800 the town manager and selectmen had allocated to airport operations. Noting that the airport was used by very few citizens, Dick Douglass said, "Let them [the plane owners] pay."

The committee also cut $1,000 from the $3,000 requested for welfare, so-called "general assistance." This account has been coming down in recent years. It had been receiving allocations of $5,000 annually a few years ago. This gradually dropped to $4,000, then $3,500 and finally the request for $3,000. Only $900 has been given out so far this fiscal year. The Budget Committee did not trim every department's budget, however. In a few rare cases they added money. For example, they decided the salary of the ambulance director ($1,500) had been the same for years and was too low. "I was on the service for seven years," said Arnol Brown, "and I don't believe there's a more dedicated person." On a motion by Bob Chadbourne, the committee voted unanimously to increase Director Arlene Greenleaf's salary to $2,000.

The committee generally left hands off all salaries, however, since they had been approved by the selectmen after negotiations or consultations with town employees. On most salary accounts the committee declined to make any motion since they did not have any say in the matter one way or another.

Little League sign-up next Thursday at CPS

Sign-ups for T-Ball, Farm League and Little League baseball for all interested youth, 6-12 years of age, will be at Crescent Park School next Thursday, April 21, at 6 p.m.

This sign-up is extremely important in helping the Recreation Board schedule events and organize the teams. If at the time of sign-up enough interest is generated, the Rec Board may be able to make softball available this summer to those interested.

The youth leagues are sponsored by the Bethel Recreation Board and are open to U area youths.

representing the district's food service workers, custodians, maintenance workers, bus drivers and mechanics. John Brown, of Bethel, estimated that under the new contract, district taxpayers would see only a six percent increase in this component of the school budget over the next two years.

The board also approved a school calendar for the coming year. Teachers will report to school on Monday, Aug. 29 for a workshop day); students will begin school the following day.

In personnel actions, the board approved the appointment of Elizabeth LaVallee, of Bethel, and Rebecca S. McNees, of Rawlins, Wyo., as high school English teachers.

In presentations early in the meeting, the students from Telstar Regional High School's sophomore class showed slides of their recent Outward Bound winter camping trip, and high school English teacher Helen Berry and several juniors and seniors described Career Week

During board member comments early in the meeting, Margaret Hand, of Woodstock, criticized The Citizen for its coverage of the meeting which area selectmen recently held on the school budget. "Just when there seems to be peace [between the selectmen and the school district], the newspaper seems to stir up trouble," she said. "If you're concerned with what really happened, get in touch with a selectman who attended, because the newspaper certainly won't let you know."

West Paris mill to close

Industrial Garnet Extractives Inc. (I.G.E.) has announced that it will discontinue its West Paris mineral processing operations.

According to company President Ralph A. Dyer, I.G.E.'s mill staff will be laid off when the processing of current inventory is completed. Mr. Dyer estimates this will take about a month. Some members of the company's administrative and marketing staff will be

South Paris, he said. Th company's West Paris real estate will be sold, Mr. Dyer said, and its mill equipment auctioned off.

relocated to other offices, perhaps in

Mr. Dyer attributed the decision to close the plant to increased foreign competition, difficulties in securing a reliable supply of high quality raw material, and to inefficiencies in the engineering of the

I.G.E. currently employs 12 people, and Mr. Dyer had high praise for their work. "These people have made it possible for us to triple our production and lower our prices," he said, "but despite the best efforts of everyone involved we just can't compete.

"Right now you can get Chinese garnet on the dock in Portland, bagged and on pallets, for less than we can produce it here," he said.

The situation was complicated further during the past year, he said, when the company began receiving an inferior grade of raw material from its supplier in New York State. During the same period, the company has also been involved in a legal dispute over its rights to mine garnet ore from a site in Rangeley, its second major source of raw material. The supply problems, combined with inefficiencies in the layout and equipment at the former feldspar mill, made it impossible for the company to operate on a profitable basis, Mr. Dyer said. The industrial grade garnet produced by I.G.E. is used primarily in abrasives such as sandpaper and in sandblasting. Mr. Dyer said that the company will continue to market garnet products, and he hoped to eventually open another processing facility.

The market for industrial garnet is growing rapidly, he said, and with a modern, more efficient plant located near a reliable source of raw material, the company would be able to compete successfully.

If I.G.E. prevails in its lawsuit regarding the Rangeley mine, Mr. Dyer said, they would seriously consider building a processing plant there. I.G.E. bought the West Paris mill in 1978 and converted it to a garnet processing operation. For approximately 10 years prior to that the mill had stood idle. In her book "Maine's Mineral Chest," Jane C. Perham, G.G., writes that the mill was built in 1925 to process the high quality feldspar discovered on the West Paris farm of Alfred C. Perham. The mill operated continuously under various owners until the late 1960s. In the ten vears between the time of its shutdown and its purchase by I.G.E., a number of attempts were made to restart the operation. According to Ms. Perham, the attempts failed for reasons very similar to those given by Mr. Dyer for the current shutdown: "The money just was not available to modernize the mill and allow it to operate at the required efficiency. Trap Corner

WARM SPRING AIR AND RETREATING ICE have made for many a misty morning of late. Here, the fog clears briefly, allowing a view of islands in North Pond. Fishermen have been taking advantage of stretches of open water expanding along the shorelines of local lakes, but the middle parts of most are still a no man's land of ice too thick to break through with a small boat but too thin to support a fisherman's weight. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

Elderwood Manor Items by Florence Hall

Anne Fox had Easter dinner with the Stanley Fox family in Bethel. Easter weekend guests of Florence Hall's were nephew Alfred Marston, of Portland; daughter Tiffanie and son, Christopher, of Hollis. Catherine McGuire spent Easter weekend with daughter Gloria Chamberlain and family, in Madison. Callers at Alma Hewey's were Marion and Sally Bodwell, Bethel, and daughter Louise Powell, Hale.

Julie and Norman White's daughters and families have visited with them since Julie's surgery.

Anne Fox attended Ladies Aid meeting on Tuesday. Bryce Yates showed movies on his trips to Alaska and Africa. Elizabeth Sennett is visiting in Thomaston with daughter Charlotte Hayes. Thought for the day: Life is like a coin: You can spend it any way you wish, but you can spend it only once. Callers at Florence Hall's were Frannie Poor, Andover, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hall, Blue Hill.

Another cloudy morning with rain very possible. Wonder what happened to the sunshine! Complain because we are getting so much rain now and complain when we don't get enough some other time. That is human nature. It is good to have the temperature higher most of the time anyway. Humidity bothers me, as well as lots of others, where arthritis is concerned. I was talking with a friend yesterday and she said it was causing her a lot of pain and misery but not much she could do to stop it; and that is the plain

Not so many squirrels around now but still have a couple come at times. Usually when the snow goes, the squirrels stop coming, but this year seems to be different. Finally have seen a robin or two, but not until very recently. Had heard they were about but we hadn't seen any.

March 31 was the day Peggy got back into Maine from her trip to Florida. She stayed in Auburn that night and her daughter and husband, Myrna and Bernard White, brought her home the next day. Stayed for quite a visit and had lunch with us. They had had a good winter in Arizona and plan to go again next year.

Had to go see the chiropractor on Friday and then to see Dr. Ware in the afternoon. Wish I could stay away from doctors for a while, but always something to be treated for, like so many others that I know.

Peggy had been invited to go to Greene to the dance on Saturday night, so she and Russell dolled up and went with Charlotte Cole, Laura, our sister, and Charlotte Sennett, of East Andover. Made some queer tracks in our yard as it was soft, but guess it will all clear out when the yard dries up. They said there was a good crowd there and they all had fun. That's what counts. I stayed home and watched TV and got some much needed sleep. Hope I will be able to go with them before too long. I like to go as well as the next one and hope it will be Sunday was Easter and we had been invited to go to Wynona and Michael's in Lewiston for dinner. We went and had a lovely dinner and good time. After we got home the middle of the afternoon, Peggy went to West Bethel to visit her daughter and family, the Merrills. She hadn't seen them since before she left for Florida. She likes to go up, especially when the children are home. Shouldn't call them children any more as they are grown up, but they are children to us.

I believe Lawrence and Grace went to Otisfield to have an Easter supper with their granddaughter and husband, also Elizabeth, the Dyers. They enjoy visiting there and I don't blame them. Elizabeth, their great granddaughter, is a real cutie and enjoyable to watch. To me, all small children are fun to watch, and I do love Kept busy on Monday but didn't want to overdo as I was going out for the first a great week ahead. time since being sick this year. Peggy, Russell and I went to Franklin Grange for the evening. Rather foggy and wet, but we had a good time. It was good to get out and see folks again. Still lots of folks having the flu and colds, though.

Easter Sunday was nice between the little showers. The churches all had lots of worshipers. Clyde Knights was at the Vatcher's to fix a leak in the woodboiler and we had a gab fest. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reidy, Tyngsboro, Mass., spent the Easter weekend with their daughter and family, who live in Reidy's trailer on the Trask Road. The North Paris Community Club held their first meeting of the season at the Vatcher's, April 5, Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Plans were made for the first supper to be held April 30. Ginger cakes and real whipped cream for dessert, along with our regular menu from 5-6 p.m. See you there.

Voted to let the hall, June 18, to Bethany Allen of Norway, for a wedding reception for his daughter.

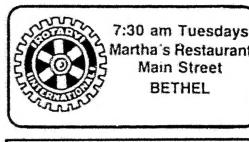

Sympathy is extended to the family of Lucien Frechette of Norway, also to the family of Annie Maddix. Annie was born on the former Dunham homestead, now owned by Joseph Kalinowski. She must have gotten a good start as the doctor stayed for a whole week after her birth due to a blizzard. He should have had a snowmobile.

THE OXFORD COUNTY CITIZEN, BETHEL, MAINE

Each week, this column will spotlight a different member of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The purpose is to give some understanding about the various fields of endeavor of the Chamber members.

Barbara and Dana Douglass operate two businesses from their home in Mayville. Dana has been a surveyor since 1962; and in 1982 they began their Bed and Breakfast, the first in the area, called the Douglass Place.

Researching and establishing boundary and property lines for private individuals and developers throughout the Oxford County area has obviously had a ting course.

PUTTING PARTY HELD The fourth annual Putting Party was held at the Bethel Inn Convention Center last Friday. Approximately 70 people attended and played the 9-hole indoor put-

Being that it is an election year, a colorful and attractive theme of red, white and blue was used. Each golf hole was named for a different candidate. Many people also dressed in red, white and blue golf attire, with Anne Moran getting an award for Best Outfit. An award for Most Political was given to Barbara Brown.

A delicious buffet was enjoyed by all after the putting contest was completed. John Morton opened the awards ceremony with a welcome speech to everyone. Dale Stevens was the emcee for the awards. The winners were: Jim Hudson, Least Proficient the received a sleeve of balls and a putting lesson); Jerry Perkins, 6th place; Louis Cayer, 5th place; Arthur Meader, 4th place; Irv Farrar, 3rd place; John Morton, 2nd place; Alan Fuller, 1st place. Jim Morin won the "Guess how many tees" contest with a guess of 875 (there were 888). East West Travel Agency and The Bethel Inn donated the prizes. The committee members who organized the party were: Bob and Linda Marchildon, Punky and Hugie Davis, John and Louise Morton, and Dale and Barbara Stevens.

The Ladies Circle met April 4 at the home of Olive Anderson. Sylvia Gray won the prize for the most correct answers as to what was on the Memory Diana of Wilton and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tray. The Ladies are asking folks to save their coffee cans for the May Cookie Sale. Anyone having coffee cans to donate may call Olive Anderson at 824-2972, and she will pick them up.

Thelma Lowery, Betsy Clark, Beatrice Lowell, Gilberte Seeley, Olive Anderson, June Swan and Sylvia Wight were at Oxford Lanes, Rumford, bowling, April 6. Rena Powers was a guest. Thelma Lowery was high scorer on both single and triple.

The Newry Cemetery Association will hold its annual meeting April 26, at 7 p.m., at the Town Office. Anyone owning Benjamin Merrill. Waterford, was at a lot in one of the cemeteries in town is a member of the association and may vote. Anyone not owning a lot will not be allowed to vote.

The assessors have started working on the 1988 tax assessment. The revaluation work started last year is being continued this year. In 1987 all condominiums, lands and homes taxed for the first time were revalued. This year homes taxed prior to 1987 are being revalued to bring the valuation more in line with current market values. It is hoped that the valuation work will be completed and everything ready for the computer early in May. The town has received the county tax bill, which is $21,099, an increase of $5,769 over 1987. Newry had the largest percentage increase of any town in Oxford County, and the largest dollar increase of any town except Rumford. Total increase for the five towns in SAD #44 was $6,926. Andover had a decrease of $3,411 or 10.5 percent; Bethel, $1,788 or 3 percent increase; Greenwood up $1,353 or 4.35 percent; and Woodstock up Falls, called on Amy and Roger In loving memory of Merle Hinkley on $1.425 or 6.7 percent: Newry up $5.679 or 37.6 percent.

Newry selectmen OK plans for a fire station

At their regular meeting Tuesday, the Newry Board of Selectmen formally approved plans for the town's first fire

Fire Chief Virgil Conkright presented the plans, which call for the construction of a wooden building, 26 feet long on each side, to be built upon a cement slab.

The fire station, which will be built on the municipal building lot, will house a Jeep pickup truck with a slide-in tank and pump unit. The tank and pump unit have already been ordered and delivery is expected by mid-May.

The selectmen have put out advertisements seeking bids on the fire station construction.

The selectmen also approved plans for a road to be constructed as part of a condominium project to go up on land belonging to Erik Nelson in Hanover.

The condominiums are being built in Hanover, but part of the road will lie in The road has now received the approval of both the Newry Planning Board and the selectmen. Tax collector Mary Tripp announced at the meeting that she is prepared to begin putting tax liens on property for

Agnes Gray School By MARTA CLEMENTS

Parents of 1988-89 Kindergarten children: If you missed Kindergarten screening and registration please call the Agnes Gray School and arrange for an appointment. We need to prepare for next fall's enrollment soon.

Field trips and guest speakers have been filling our agendas recently. Mrs. Otterson visited Grade 3 to talk about dental health. The 3rd-graders have been taking flouride pills daily and rinsing weekly all year long in order to prevent cavities. Mrs. Otterson, a dental hygienist, speke about good, low-sugar snacks and good breakfast foods.

Third-graders will be visiting and interviewing community workers in West Paris as part of a social studies unit. Mrs. Small, our teacher assistant, will be taking the children to area businesses to interview werkers about their jobs. More on this next week.

The 5th-graders recommend a trip to Boston. High on their list of things that must be seen are the dolphin show at the New England Aquarium and the Thomson Theater of Electricity and the Omni Theater presentation at the Museum of Science Their next field trip will be a lecal one Friday, before vacation, they will be meeting their pen pals from Mrs. Alice Deegan's 5th Grade of the Guy E. Howe School, for an afternoon of bowling at the Oxford Hills Lanes.

This is a busy time of year for the district's 6th-graders. On April 6, Maylene Cummings, Christina Cousins and Jessica Carver presented a video tape made by jumor high students. They also talked about and answered questions regarding the changes from elementary to junior high school. That evening, 6thgraders and their parents met with representatives of Oxford Hills Junior High Principal Eleanor Tracy, language arts teacher Beverly Yates, and school counselor Alice DeCato were there to help prepare all concerned for the transition. In June there will be a Step Up day and the 6th-graders will visit the junior

Greenwood City By COLISTA MORGAN

The rising sun was pushing an orange flood through my kitchen window, when I got up Wednesday, March 30. A robin was walking my lawn; a red-wing black bird was saying, "Kuk-karee, karee"; and my first song sparrow was singing from my maple bough. What a delightful morning to take a ride into the fascinating world of mountains, trees and lakes. My nephew, Albert, had invited me to go to places, with him, his father and mother, where stood the proud forests so recently dressed in erminecrumbling stone walls-gun metal streams curling their way to the lakeswaters just shedding their white coats and opening one blue eye to the springcrowding alders on banks to watch a brook go by and to thrill at the relatively unafraid, immensely curious deer stalking and wandering here and there. Many had been fed during the winter so were seen in house yards, by rivers and in fields. Our first view was one of four near a river's edge. We watched as they stretched their necks, sniffed the air, thrust forward their ears, lifted high dainty hoofs step by step and at times flipping up in a flash of white their tails. One by one they casually crossed the thin ice to the opposite shore of the river. I held my breath, afraid one might go through.

We moved on, still watching and hoping for more. In a short while several crossed the road in front of us. It is speed that brings out the grace of the deer family. We saw it here.

I have a strong love of nature—the woods, waters and creatures in them. Many things I have grown to love-the sun that blazes in the morning and bleeds to death at night-the bent colored rainbow-clouds, winds, moon's golden carpet across my pond-laughter of brooks-dance of silver raindrops on the pond-winging ducks and so much more.

Some of the sections which we traveled brought other memories of the many hikes and trails over which I had been-a jaunt to the top of a mountain ledge, where I sat with friends in wongeful silence and gazed out over the gorgeous panorama of woods, waters, mountains, meadows and far away farms. I saw old weathered stubs and stumps of pine and spruce which possessed a weird kind of beauty, while above all floated fleecy cumulus clouds; sometimes piled into castles. I saw much of this again today. On a ride like this there are many things that break the natural scene: road construction, building of dams, pipelines and the felling of trees. But always there was a reminder of deer, for all along the roadside were narrow grooves that marked their trails.

Finally toward noon, while all across a sunny pasture, we saw a herd of 12 deer, biting away at tender sprouts. They were little concerned about us, as they moved around. We watched for several minutes but I knew that with my small camera I couldn't get a good picture. But later at the end of a house, two did a good pose for me. It was the end of a good "deer-day" for we saw 25 in all. We still traveled on and ate lunch in Rangeley. I noticed how far I could see at this time and how the snow clad hills and ravines were clearly visible among bare trees, winter's topography still there. On our way home we saw where swift water had piled ice along the rivers. We came back through Byron, Roxbury and Rumford. Near a secluded farm and a running brook we were "held-up". In the middle of the road were three tall figures dressed all in white and moving for no one. Yellow swords held high, they stopped us. From the brook came more recruits. We didn't attempt to move until these geese and ducks cleared the road. After that in a very brief time we met nine motorcyclemen speeding along. If the "army" still remained they, too, must have had to stop. I hope all went

The remainder of the way was uneventful and I had enjoyed all of the nearly 200 miles which we had covered. I had much to think about that evening, as purple dusk was leading the way down the stairs of night; and to Albert, many thanks for a time I'll always remember. After church on Sunday I joined Ann, Robert, Jeri, Ricky and Jenny Holt and Leonas and Fay Holt for Easter.

The ice is fast leaving the pond and I've his cottage on Saturday.

A Little Peoples Pre-School is being held by Laurie Fleck at her home in South Woodstock, two days a week, Tuesday and Thursday. She has two groups each day, 9-11 a.m. and 1-3 p.m.

Those attending are Amanda Miclon, Karrie Fleck, Jeff Eaton, Devin Coffin, Andrew Putnam, Faith Verrill, Katie Rourke, Kandice Berryment, Paul Cox Jr., Tricia Hadley, Kim Hadley, Jamie Knightly and Ashlee Session. They have just completed a project where they made Easter baskets for the elderly in Ledgeview Nursing Home. They brought Easter eggs for the baskets. On each basket a bunny or a chick was placed on top. The children enjoyed doing this.

The teacher, Laurie Fleck, thanks the children for the Easter goodies and helping on this project for our elderly friends. Laurie Fleck delivered the baskets Wednesday.

The Willing Workers had to cancel their meeting of April 5. A future date will be set later. Be on the lookout for it. Grange meetings have held sway this week. Franklin Grange meeting was Monday night. Then Tuesday Pomona met with Franklin Grange. A 6:30 supper was served by the host grange to around 60 members. The fifth degree was given to nine members. The next meeting is to be with Bear River, in May, instead of Crooked River, as stated on your program. Please note this. A 6:30 supper will be served. See you there.

April 15, our first Three Point meeting will be with Oxford. Franklin Grange will hold the chairs and Mt. Sugarloaf will furnish the program. A 6:30 supper will be served by Oxford. Franklin and Mt. Sugarloaf will bring desserts. Also our Citizen Award will be given at an open meeting, April 18. The public is extended an invitation to this meeting, at 7:30. Spring is here as everyone is out rak-

Health Center

Our speaker for the next program in our series of presntations for the elderly will be Dr. Taylor, from the health center. He will speak on the subject of biofeedback.

Biofeedback is an unprecedented therapy. It is both psychological and medical and its uniqueness lies in the fact that the healing process takes place in the mind of the patient. Biofeedback is also used to recuce tensions and anxieties, which are shown in muscle tension. The basis of the relaxation effect is the development of awareness on the part of the patient Dr. Taylor will explore with us all of the possibilities and benefits of biofeed-

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Over 50 members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society attended the April monthly meeting last Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Featured program for the evening included a history of three Bethel streets: Elm, Summer and Winter, by Geraldine S. Howe, of the program committee.

In her remarks, Mrs. Howe stated that present-day Elm Street began as Chapman Street. This fact is clearly indicated by reference to the 1878 Bird's Eye View of Bethel and by a deed dated 12 August 1869 given by carriage-maker Pinckney Burnham (1814-1892) and several others to the Inhabitants of the Town of Bethel. The Chapman honored wsa undoubtedly Robert A. Chapman (1807-1880), Bethel entrepreneur and developer. Only a portion of the present street was considered (from Summer to Railroad streets) in the 1869 deed, which also gave the town (along with names so stated) Winter and Summer streets. The other section of present-day Elm Street developed later. It was long known informally as "Brighton Avenue," presumably because prominent cattle dealer John M. Philbrook (1840-1923) lived on Main Street where Four Seasons is today. He shipped much livestock to Brighton, Mass., from Bethel for many years. In 1909, the entire present-day Elm Street was accepted as an official town way and was so named, according to Mrs. Howe, because so many elms had been planted along it. An earlier Elm Street became Mill Hill and Dutton Street was renamed Chapman Street. In 1955, Gould Academy and the Town of Bethel agreed to the addition of an extra two feet of payed surface on Elm Street from Main to High streets on the present Gould parking lot side in exchange for concessions from the Town on the opposite side of the street (near the site of the 1894 Brick Grammar School). These three streets have been home to a variety of Bethel citizens and the area continues to be primarily a residential one. Mrs. Howe provided names of many owners and renters of property here. She ed the program.

also recalled for those present a number of businesses that were formerly on these streets from the Van Telephone office to Fritz Tyler's Box Shop. Of particular interest is the number of buildings that are now gone in this area and the number that have been moved from one location to another.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Marvin Ouwinga announced that the Bethel Historical Society will host the April 30 meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies. Featured during the program will be a presentation on "Greenbackism in Oxford County," by Society Director Stanley R. Howe. President Ouwinga also announced that the next Bethel Historical Society meeing would be May 5 and feature a presentation by Earle G. Shettleworth, Jr., director of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission, titled "Bethel's Thomas Holt: Maine Architect."

The artifact of the month was announced by Virginia Keniston of the Cross Country Quilters, who presented on behalf of the group a completed quilt. The squares for this quilt were made by ladies (largely from West Bethel) in 1936 and were presented to the Bethel Historical Society in 1982 by a daughter of one of the original quilters, Jane Smith Mills, of Bryant Pond. Names included are those of Ella Grover, Marian Skillings, Frances W. Bennett, Irene Buzzell, Dorothy Blake, Sylvia Luxton, Florence Blake, Libbie Kneeland, Grace Morrill, Ruby Davis, Sadie Chase, Mildred Heath, Grace Skillings, Joan Coolidge, Florence Hastings, Betty Morrill, Olive Head, Vera McInnis, Phyllis Blanchard, Mary Abbott, Lona Gilbert, Ethel Walsh, Mabel Kirk, Emma Blake, Josephine Kendall, Carla Bennett, Doris Lord, Claire Smith and Helen M. Perkins. Among the quilters who helped with this quilt were (besides Mrs. Keniston) Sue Crane, Carole Crandall, Mary Keniston, Mary Brown, Barbara Yates, Catherine Calef and Dorla Fudge. President Ouwinga expressed his appreciation to Cross Country Quilters for this fine addition to the Society's quilt collection. Refreshments and a social hour follow-

Joe Bergeron made a cake with his uncle Andre Bernier. They won for the tallest cake at the Cub Scouts' Father and Son Cake Bake.

CUB SCOUTS PACK 566 February and March have been two busy months for Cub Scouts. In February there was a big Cub Scout Birthday celebration. The Cub Scouts had a Blue and Gold Banquet. Each Den made placemats and a centerpiece. Den 4's table won for the most original with placemats. The Webelos won for the prettiest table. Each of the dens put on a skit for everybody.

At the Pinewood Derby, first-place went to Jacob Annis; second, Clint Myers; third, James Haines; and fourth, Nathan Moore. The best car design went to Brett Wilson. These boys will compete district wide on April 16 in Wilton with their Pinewood Derby cars. Ray Harrington. Dewaine Craig and George Haines were instrumental in making the

In March, the Scouts had the Father and Son Cake Bake. There were 30 cakes in all. The Cake Bake winners were: Tallest, Joe Bergeron with his uncle, Andre Bernier; Most Creative, Keith Stevens with his father, Robert; Prettiest, Jayson Hebert with his father, Tony: Best Tasting, Jacob Annis with his father, Scott. In March there was also a Scout Sunday. The Cub Scouts went to the Methodist Church service. The Methodist Church sponsors the Cub Scouts.

The Webelo's Den has won best performance trophy for three months in a row. Pack 566 has received National Summertime Pack Award for last summer. In 1987 they won Quality Unit Award. The Cub Scouts are now selling tickets for the Scout Show in May. There are some faboulous door prizes.

ANNA K. JARVENPAA

Anna K. Jarvenpaa, 76, of Greenwood, died April 7, 1988 at the Maine Medical Center, in Portland, where she had been a patient for three days.

She was born at Fitchburg, Mass., on Aug. 22, 1911, the daughter of Kusti and Hilma Silander-Tamminen. She had lived in Greenwood since coming from Fitchburg as a young girl. She received her education in the Fitchburg and Greenwood schools and married Aarne Jarvenpaa on Aug. 14, 1931. She was a member of Club Eight, Greenwood, and the Funnish-American Heritage Society. Mrs. Jarvenpaa was a former member of the Orumby Archers' Association and was the women's archery champion for the State of Maine at one time.

She is survived by her husband and a brother, Nestor Tamminen, both of Greenwood. She was predeceased by two brothers, Eino and Laure Tamminen.

Funeral services were held Sunday from the Andrews Funeral Home. in South Woodstock, with the Rev. Constance Wells officiating. Bearers were Phelps Poland, Philip Merrill, Charles Verrill, Ardell Hayes, Frank Perham and David Tamminen. Interment was in the Wayside Cemetery, West Paris.

Tri-Town Rescue

Dorene Benson and the Tri-Town Auxiliary are very busy completing the plans for the variety show that will be coming up on April 16. This show will be held at the Agnes Gray School gym at West Paris, and will feature Joe Perham as MC, along with Rick Blake and the North Atlantic Band, Chris Miclon, Meri Howe and others too numerous to mention Rumor has it that Richard Felt and his gang will be there, and I heard something about a chorus line of raisins. I guess this is something that will have to be seen to be believed. Remember, April 16 from 7 to 9 p.m. Tickets are available from Trap Corner Store, or from Dorene Benson at her home, or at work at Perham's, or, of course, at the door. Tri-Town Search & Rescue will be meeting at the barn on April 14 at 7 p.m. Harry Archer will be handling the training, with introduction to the new FUN-SAR materials. This is an important meeting, as Ken Bacon, team leader, has resigned from this position and a new team leader has to be elected at this

April training has been changed to April 27. This will be a basic, practical, hands-on course on splinting. We will be using the equipment on hand, as well as the new head restraints. CEU credits will be available. Chris Hefley will be in

Gould students return from trip to Costa Rica talks about ozone issue

After a three-week stay in Central America, three Gould Academy students and two faculty chaperones returned to Bethel last week. This cultural student exchange program began in February Samuel Butcher, of the Bowdoin Colwhen three Costa Rican students and one lege Chemistry Department, will be the teacher took the long journey north and lecturer and discussion leader. The prostayed at Gould for a similar period of gram is free to anyone interested in time. Whereas the Costa Ricans had to survive a cold and snowy Maine winter. LIONS PLAN MOLLYOCKETT DAY the Gould people going south enjoyed > warmth and sunshine. The students lived with local families who had high-school-age-children and entered in the educational and social life of the area. Todd Kirn, a junior from Rumford, spent 212 weeks in the town of Zarcero, where he taught English in the high school, milked cows on a farm and worked on the farm associated with the school. Heather Sparks, a senior from Brookline, Mass., spent her time in Sarchi, a town where the people are wellknown for their painting and woodworking. She lived with two different families and became quite involved in the art classes at the high school. Beth Hill, a senior from Bethel, lived one week in Sarchi and two weeks in Guapiles, where she worked on a banana and cocoa bean farm. Beth also taught English to the local students.

Faculty members Blake Johnson and Marvin Ouwinga spent their time visiting the three students, spending a week with each and helping to coordinate the overall program. The group also had time to visit both the Caribbean and Pacific coasts, several national parks, including two active volcanoes, and spent a weekend in San Jose, the capital of Costa Rica. There they visited the pre-Columbian Gold Museum, the Jade Museum, the National Theater, and several government buildings.

The students felt that the most rewarding aspect of their trip was the experience of living and sharing with their respective families. Another strong point was the necessity of having to communicate and think in Spanish, the native
